

Onward and Upward

Accepting a JFA Staff Position as a Training Specialist

GRACE FONTENOT'S MONTHLY UPDATE

MAY 2018

Dear Friends and Family,

Late in the fall of 2016, I remember realizing that my one-semester internship with Justice For All was coming to an end and thinking, "I can't leave! I still have so much to learn!" Almost two years later, I still feel the same way. Since then, I have spent hundreds of hours in conversation with pro-choice advocates around the country. I have invested many hours into the studies of communication, theology, and philosophy in order to better serve the churches with which we partner and the students we meet on campus. Though I believe intellectual preparation is critical, I can't ever, by my own strength, meet the needs of all those I meet on campus. Why? Because Jesus

TEACHING—Above I am shown speaking at a recent Justice For All Taking Abortion From Debate to Dialogue workshop in Boulder, CO.

MENTORING— At a recent training seminar in Fort Collins, CO, I led this small group of pro-life advocates, equipping them with the tools necessary for fruitful discussion about abortion.

In this new role, I will continue participating as a dialogue artist in outreach events to college campuses, training pro-life communities and churches in JFA's Abortion: From Debate to Dialogue seminars, and mentoring participants throughout these two parts of our training program. In addition, I will be assisting JFA's intern recruiter as well as planning future events! Please continue to pray for me as I go forward in this mission, and if you haven't already, please prayerfully consider joining my monthly financial support team. Thank you to those of you who have already joined my team—your gifts make this work possible.

For the sake of His sorrowful passion,

Christ is the Changer of minds, the Healer of hearts and the Savior of the souls I meet on campus—not me. Like His mother, Mary, I am called simply to be His hand-maiden, to love and to serve Him.

At JFA, our goal is to kindle affection for those who are forgotten in our world today: women who are going through unplanned pregnancies, pre-born children who are at risk to abortion, and the pro-choice advocates whom we are trying to reach. I am convicted of the importance of this mission, which is why when I was offered an ongoing staff position as a Training Specialist with Justice For All, I accepted it with a humbled heart.

OUTREACH—At this outreach event on the Metro State campus in Denver, CO, I had the opportunity to reach both pro-life and pro-choice college students while I also mentored volunteers.
