Dear Sirs,

I am writing to ask for the financial support of McKinney Street Baptist Church as a domestic missionary. We are somewhat acquainted already through my having spoken at church and my involvement with Justice For All (JFA).

I know you are already familiar with JFA, so this is just a recap. JFA is a non-profit educational organization. We teach pro-life apologetics, and we teach Christians how to turn a conversation about life into a conversation about eternal life. While specific doctrine will vary from one volunteer to the next, we are all engaged in the purest form of personal evangelism. I have attached for your review an open letter I wrote explaining how I got involved with JFA.

JFA is not affiliated with any particular denomination, and we have no doctrinal statement of faith, although all of our staff members are Christians. The work of JFA is supported through the donations of thousands of pro-life advocates across the country. Their support pays for our office, travel, equipment, and other overhead. However, each staff person is a missionary, supported by his own personal support team.

I am asking McKinney Street to consider supporting me personally. I am currently supported monthly by forty-nine families and two churches. I have attached two letters of reference and a recent newsletter which details my specific job duties.

I need $980 per month to complete my support. Would McKinney Street be willing to sponsor a portion of that for twelve or twenty-four months?

I would be happy to answer your questions in person at your convenience. I am also available by phone or email.

Sincerely yours,

John Michener
