

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Joshua Pedrick's January Update

Dear family and friends,

It is with great joy that I write this letter to you from my desk at the JFA office. This opportunity to serve would not have been possible without the prayers and support of my family and friends, and for this I thank you. Much has happened over the last month and I am excited to have this chance to share some recent events with you.

ENJOYING THE NEBRASKA WEATHER

My living situation has turned out quite well. I've been trying to eat well, bacon and eggs has become a dinner favorite. The most exciting thing that has happened in the house so far has been a problem with our furnace. This minor setback has been overcome with the use of space heaters and blankets as we wait for a permanent repair.

As excited as I was to get into the office and begin working on January 11th, it was only one week before I had to bid goodbye to my new workplace; to go to Nebraska! After a mere three days in the office I was informed that I would be leaving for Nebraska on January 17th to assist with presentations at David City Aquinas High school and St. Leonard's elementary school in Madison. The talk we would be giving at St Leonard's would be the first time in years JFA had been to an elementary school.

It was with great excitement that I carefully squished myself into the back of a fully loaded minivan on Sunday afternoon. Our small team of four, plus me, passed the time by reviewing the elementary school curriculum. As various ideas were brought up regarding who would be giving each of the four elementary presentations, it was pointed out that no one in the car had before given this presentation to this age group. Due to the fact that I was a willing candidate, I was assigned the kindergarten presentation.

ME PRESENTING TO THE KIDS

Once I got past my initial trepidation at speaking about unborn babies in their mommy's tummy to bright-eyed kids, I quite enjoyed the opportunity to give my first presentation. I also was able to assist with the presentation at David City Aquinas High School by participating in role-playing exercises and helping teach the curriculum to a small group of high-school students.

Thank you so much for your continued prayers and support as I continue on this exciting new journey God has for me.

In Christ,

Joshua Pedrick

Josh Pedrick's Prayer Requests

- Health of all JFA staff
- Boldness in proclaiming the truth
- That people's hearts and minds would be open to what we have to say
