

"I used to believe in abortion, but now after what you've shown us today I see I was wrong. I want to be pro-life now!" -Lindsay, a high school student who attended my pro-life presentation at Deer Valley High School this year.

Dear Family and Friends,

Impacting students like Lindsay is the reason I have been involved in pro-life work throughout Arizona for the past 5 years.

From hosting seminars to creating pro-life films, I have sought to lovingly change people's hearts and minds about abortion.

Abortion is a personal issue for me because I have had to forgive my mother for aborting my older brother.

So I am always frustrated when conversations about this issue alienate those who have experienced abortion, or cause people to senselessly argue and hurt one another's feelings.

That is why in February 2009 I plan to move to Wichita, Kansas to join Justice for All (JFA), a national pro-life organization whose mission is to train thousands to make abortion unthinkable for millions, one student at a time.

JFA travels the country training hundreds of volunteers each year to present their large photo exhibit to public university communities.

Me at JFA's 2008 CA Outreach

Then JFA staff and trained volunteers (up to 200 per campus!) respectfully dialogue with students on campus about abortion. I have already volunteered in nine JFA university outreaches where I witnessed gracious dialogue transform hearts and minds.

Imagine training thousands of students across the nation to be pro-life ambassadors, who in a loving,

Christ-like way show students both the inhumanity of abortion as well as God's love and forgiveness!

JFA's approach is the most effective pro-life training and presentation program I have ever experienced.

By training students, who will in turn train other students, who will then train even more people, I believe we will unlock the key to ending abortion in America!

In addition, my expertise in video production will help JFA create virtual exhibits that will prayerfully expand their reach a hundred-fold!

I'm convinced through JFA's efforts that thousands of students can be trained each year to defend the unborn, and hundreds of thousands can be challenged not only with the reality of abortion, but also the love of Christ!

In order to accomplish these goals, I need to assemble a team of at least 100 people who will pray and give between $5 and $100 each month to support my work with Justice for All.

I need total commitments of $2,500 each month by February 2009 to participate in JFA's spring '09 campus training and outreach events.

"...I saw the [Justice For All] exhibit at the University of North Texas, one month before I got pregnant with Nicholas.

God...used [the JFA] exhibit and my pregnancy to get mine and Nicholas' father's attention in a BIG way.

Nick is the lover of my soul...and I love him too -- SO MUCH! All things are possible through Christ, who strengthens us!

Would you please consider joining my team and offering your prayers and financial support to help me to save unborn children and their families from abortion?

I will be calling you in a few days to gauge your interest in helping me join other young people across the nation to rebuild a Culture of Life. I look forward to speaking with you about this exciting opportunity.

Sincerely,

Trent Horn
