

God Strengthens Those He Calls

Jordan Newhouse ~ June 2015

Dear Family and Friends,

This year I've learned that when God asks us to do something, He provides the strength to do it.

It was hard to uproot myself and move to a new place a year ago, but the JFA team welcomed me with open arms and helped me to transition into this season of my life. God has shown Himself faithful, empowering me to do what I couldn't do alone. For example, giving me the discernment to balance love and truth with a hurting student named Blake at the end of a tiring day of outreach at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) last month.

Last winter, JFA accepted my application to extend my internship, and this summer it has become clear that my internship will come to a close at the end of December 2015. This is not because I want to leave Justice For All, neither is it because Justice For All wants me to go. Rather God is simply sending me in a new direction. Hopefully I will be able to share more in the coming months.

God has strengthened me to do this work through your support. Thank you for joining me in this ministry through prayer, financial support, and the many creative ways you have found to bless me!

Jordan Newhouse

Support Raising Update:

As of June 26 I only need to raise $3,113 before I am fully funded!

35 individuals and families have joined my support team
{Thank You!}

If you haven't already, please consider joining my support team

The JFA team after outreach at UCLA