

Justice For All Repeat Work Exercise

Seat Work: JFA's Mentor-Guided Seminar

Feet Work: JFA's Mentor-Guided Outreach

Repeat Work: Your Self-Initiated, Everyday-Life Outreach

Step 1: Pick Someone

Choose a Friend or Family Member

(Thank you to David Lee for this brainstorming process.)

1. Find a piece of paper and pen.
2. Write down the names of three friends or family members:
 - (1) Who would be easy to talk to about the things you've learned through your JFA experience? _____
 - (2) Who would be a challenge to talk to because he or she is pro-choice or because you don't know what he or she thinks? _____
 - (3) Who in your life would be the most difficult to talk to (for whatever reason)? _____
3. Your assignment is to talk to your numbers "1" and "2." Pray for your #3.
4. Decide when in the next two weeks you can take 15-30 minutes to start the conversation with #1.
5. Pick your activity from the three activities below.
6. Call your "1" to arrange a time to talk.
7. Repeat Steps 4-6 with #2.

Step 2: Pick a Dialogue Tool

Share Yourself (Your JFA Outreach Experience)

1. Write a reflection on your experience at a JFA Outreach.
2. Share your reflection with your JFA Mentor.
3. If you request it, your JFA Mentor can give you feedback on how to edit your reflection to make it into a good 10-minute presentation on your experience with JFA.
4. Ask your church small group if you can share your JFA experience during a normally-scheduled group meeting.
5. Or, send your reflection to your friends via email and ask for feedback from them.

On the reverse, find two more dialogue tool options, and two more "Repeat Work" steps. →

Repeat Work Commitment Form

I am committing today to talk to two people, _____ and _____, within the next two weeks, in order to create dialogue on abortion. I am asking God to work through my conversations to bring healing, clear thinking, and/or the courage to do more to save the unborn and their parents from abortion. (Feel free to change these words to reflect your unique commitment.)

Step 2: Pick a Dialogue Tool (continued)

Share the Justice For All Exhibit (Online or Brochure)

1. Versions of the Exhibit:
 - Brochure: If you don't have one, get a copy: www.jfaweb.org/brochure.html
 - Online exhibit: www.jfaweb.org/exhibit.html
 - JFA's individual Exhibit panel pdf's: www.jfaweb.org/outreachlinks
2. Ask a friend to view the Exhibit with you (even over the phone, you can look at the online panels together).
3. Give your friend the "Tour" of the first four panels.
4. Ask your friend the two summary questions for the first four pages (Side 1 of the JFA Exhibit), and ask your friend to answer those questions ("Is the unborn a human being?" and "Does wantedness or unwantedness change the value of a human being?"). The Tour is on pages 29-31 of the Interactive Guide.
5. Use the Three Essential Skills (<http://www.jfaweb.org/WHAT.html>) to create dialogue.
6. Note: You can also use just pages 2-3 of the Exhibit Brochure (panels 1 and 2 here) for a non-graphic option.

Share Stephen Wagner's Common Ground Without Compromise

1. Download the book for FREE: www.commongroundbook.com (It comes in two parts.)
2. Buy the bound book: www.commongroundbook.com.

Note: You Can Also Use a Combination of the Three Activities Above to Create Dialogue.

Step 3: Make It Happen

This is the toughest part of the process. Look at your plan (Step 2) and just do it. We suggest starting by praying for the heart of the person with whom you're going to be talking. Ask God to help this person be open to thinking about abortion in a new way. Ask God to give you the humility to have the attitude, "I might be wrong about some things and need to adjust my views, too."

Step 4: Share Your Story

Contact your mentor or see www.repeatwork.blogspot.com to share your story.
