

What Students Are Saying About the Justice For All Training And Exhibit

“The JFA exhibit helped me see the full effects of postmodernism on our culture...I had the chance to talk to a girl named Jordan for over an hour...She was a part of the feminist group on campus. Our conversation started over the necessity of the graphic pictures and led to everything about life and what we believed.”

-- Amy Brown, Grove City College, 2007, Molecular Biology

“I came...with the mindset that I would never have an abortion, but it should remain legal. When the [JFA training] dialogue attacked this very idea, I was stunned at its obvious truth. How could I oppose abortion personally because it's killing a human child, but allow such child-killing to remain legal? How ridiculous! I come from a secular school where the smoke of postmodernism has infiltrated our thinking. This experience with JFA totally opened my eyes to the truth...”

—Katie Bruhn, Willamette University, 2008, History

“...working directly with the model Exhibit [during training] proved to be very helpful. I gained confidence and experience by being interactive and practicing with a partner one-on-one...the [JFA] staff emphasized very well that we do need to defend [truth] in a valid way, but that we need to do this in love, and that our ultimate goal is to share the love and hope of Christ.”

-- Jenae Frank, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 2007

“...the JFA experience has given me a boldness to engage the culture around me.... The JFA exhibit is something that I recommend for any person passionate for the truth and living Godly lives...I didn't anticipate that the experience would change my life as much as it did. It not only gave me a passion for truth in regards to abortion, but just as importantly, the passion for truth in one's worldview.”

—Scott Godfrey, Auburn University, 2005, Finance

“I would definitely participate in this outreach again. I would do it again because it makes me get out of my comfort zone for Christ. It forces me to take a risk for Him. It allows me to show His love to others and to share His saving Truth with strangers that so desperately need it. It opens my eyes to the reality of our culture. It reminds of why I am here on this earth. It stirs up a fire inside of me to share His love to the dying world.”

-- Cassie Mason, Focus on the Family Institute, Spring 2006

“The overall experience at JFA was phenomenal. It was the best intellectual experience I had ever had.”

-- Levi Keener, University Of Nebraska Medical Center, 2008, Nuclear Medicine

“Although I have always been pro-life, I had never fully understood the impact of abortion until I was shown the pictures...Before this outreach, I didn't feel the need to express my views on this subject to others. My experience...had been very negative because it is an extremely touchy subject for many. However, after seeing these pictures and receiving additional information, I cannot remain silent any longer. I know now that when the opportunity arises to engage in a conversation about abortion with someone, I will willingly take it.”
