

Rebecca's Reflections

113 N. Martinson—Wichita, KS 67203—316.683.6426—Rebecca@jfaweb.org

December 2011

A Reason To Rejoice

Merry Christmas!

What a time of anticipation and joy as we prepare to celebrate the arrival of the greatest Christmas gift, Jesus Christ!

This past year, I received another special gift and reason to rejoice. Her name is Lori Navrodtzke.

Pictured to the right is the group of students and parents I worked with in Denton, Texas. Lori is in the orange shirt.

Instead of attending the seminar as a parent or student, Lori came to learn to teach others, and I was blessed with being her mentor. What a gift to be the teacher of a teacher.

Lori shares my passion for teaching others how to dialogue about abortion. While we are both passionate, her life story instills a passion in her that I will never truly comprehend. Lori and I met for the first time last January in Arizona. That is where I first heard her testimony and journey of healing from the abortion in her past. Because of her experience, she understands the needs of women in crisis situations. I might have been Lori's mentor, but I have much to learn from her.

Please take some time to read Lori's reflection of her experience with Justice For All. Please pray that more women like Lori will step forward to share the truth about abortion and how it affected them personally.

Prayer Requests

Please pray:

- that the details and reservations for the Spring events are completed in a timely manner.
- for me as I continue to raise support.
- my continued health during this upcoming semester.
- for continued healing for a young woman I met in Oklahoma. She had an abortion when she was 14 years old. My teammate Jacob and I connected her with a pregnancy resource center, and she has started counseling sessions. Praise God for this opportunity to help her find healing.

Defending life together,

Rebecca J. Haschke