September 2012

Last fall in Oklahoma a young woman shared with me that at age fourteen she had been drugged and raped. After conceiving a child through this traumatic experience, she was forced by her mother to have an abortion. As the two of us sat side-by-side in the grass, she placed her phone in my hand. Together we made a phone call to a local pregnancy center that provides counseling and healing for young women like her. Her healing continues today.

As we begin our Fall 2012 training season (see schedule below), please pray that through our mission, "to train thousands, to make abortion unthinkable for millions, one person at a time," more men and women will find healing from past wounds of abortion and that many will be spared the wounds caused by abortion because of their encounter with Justice For All staff and volunteers.
